

3-DAY SAHARA DESERT TRIP FROM MARRAKECH TO MERZOUGA

Marrakech to the Erg Chebbi dunes and back in 3 days: High Atlas, Aït Ben Haddou, Todra Gorge and a night in a luxury desert camp

DESTINATION	DURATION	STARTS IN	MEETING POINT
Morocco	3 days / 2 nights	Marrakech	Pick-up at your hotel or riad in Marrakech, between 07:00 and 08:00

OVERVIEW

In short: a 3-day, 2-night trip from Marrakech to the Erg Chebbi dunes in Merzouga, in the Sahara, and back. We pick you up at your hotel in Marrakech, cross the High Atlas, visit Aït Ben Haddou and the Todra Gorge, ride camels into the dunes for sunset and sleep in a luxury desert camp with air conditioning and private bathrooms. On day 3 we drive back to Marrakech and drop you at your hotel. Flights are not included: the trip starts and ends in Marrakech.

Price: 200€ per person.

QUICK FACTS

- Starts and ends: your hotel or riad in Marrakech
- Length: 3 days, 2 nights
- Route: Marrakech, High Atlas (Tizi n'Tichka), Aït Ben Haddou, Ouarzazate, Tinghir, Todra Gorge, Erg Chebbi dunes (Merzouga), Marrakech
- Where you sleep: 1 night in a hotel in Tinghir, 1 night in a luxury desert camp
- Group size: up to 18 people, in our minibus
- Pick-up: between 07:00 and 08:00 at your hotel
- Departures: every day, book until 15:00 (Morocco time) the day before
- Good for: solo travelers, friends and couples who want the desert without organising the transport

The Sahara is far from Marrakech, and the road is half the trip. You climb over the High Atlas on the Tizi n'Tichka pass, walk through the mud-brick alleys of Aït Ben Haddou, pass Ouarzazate and sleep in Tinghir. The next day is the Todra Gorge in the morning and the Erg Chebbi dunes of Merzouga by late afternoon: a camel ride at sunset, dinner, a bonfire with live Berber music and a night under more stars than you have probably ever seen.

Want a slower way back? The 4-day trip follows the same route and adds a night in Ouarzazate after the desert.
